Summer Dining Travel Guide

By Felicia M. Koretsky

Initially, we thought a summer trip to Italy, France, or Japan sounded like a good idea. But were we really up for dizzying itinerary planning, high-speed train rides, and racing to connecting flights while bingeing on Rosetta Stone? Yeah, no.

Thanks to new additions to the Reef's summertime menus, we are able to experience many delicious domestic and international flavors without ever leaving the front gate. Maybe not exactly the same as being there, but we are sold on the authentic tastes, first class service, and trotting the globe without jet lag.

Bon Jour

With our French-ish bicycle baskets fastened tightly, we ride past The Reef's Eiffel (Water) Tower to the Ocean Room. We load up on pain au chocolat (chocolate ganache-filled croissants), new fruit tarts with seasonal berries, lemon poppy seed muffins with lemon zest drizzle, spinach and guava turnovers, and herb-infused cheese scones, courtesy of the shared inspirations of Chefs Rey Alvarez and Jeffrey Munchel. Oui. Oui. Paired with caffeinated cups of dark roast Gotta Question?

Do the Mokes I see around The Reef have to abide by the rules for cars or golf carts?

Great question, the answer is cars!

Mokes are classified as Low-Speed Vehicles (LSV) and can be driven legally on all roads with a speed limit of 35 MPH or less, which is compatible with Ocean Reef's speed limits of 5, 15, or 25 MPH. ORCA rules state that Mokes may only be driven on roads, not on golf cart lanes. Mokes are also not allowed on golf courses. They must be parked in regular motor vehicle parking spots, not spaces designated for carts.

In comparison to golf carts, Mokes are bigger therefore incompatible with our golf cart parking spots at Ocean Reef. As they can be driven on Ocean Reef's main roadways, drive your Moke with the same caution and adherence to rules as you would any motor vehicle.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

If you would like to submit a question, email the Ocean Reef Press at orp@oceanreef.com.

ORC Legend Bob Toski Recognized by Florida Panthers "Heroes Among Us" Program

by Annie Miles

Growing up in Indiana during the '60s, I remember having lots of heroes. Most of my book reports in elementary school were about our founding fathers or other great Americans like Clara Barton, George Washington Carver, or Thomas Edison. Today, it seems, heroes are harder to find since no human flaw escapes the 21st century media. As such, it was encouraging to find that the Florida Panthers, 2024 Stanley Cup Champions, still believe in heroes and honor them at their games. The "Heroes Among Us" program, initiated by the Florida Panthers' Foundation, gives the South Florida community the opportunity to nominate and honor veterans or those currently serving in any branch of the US military. All of those chosen for this honor are recognized at Panthers' home hockey games. Recently, at the first game of the Stanley Cup Finals June 8th, ORC legend and its first Director of Golf, Bob Toski, received this distinction for his military service and contributions to the game of golf.

Toski was drafted after high school at age 18 and went to India and then Burma as a tech sergeant in the Infantry. In a 2018 interview for the series, "Veteran's Chronicles," an American Veterans Center program where vets tell their story in their own words, Toski explained, "After I saw what happened at Pearl Harbor, I couldn't wait to serve. I became a patriot." An expert rifle marksman, he was days from beginning jungle warfare in Burma when the atomic bomb ended the war. "I was prepared to die for my country." The contrast between the stark poverty of life in India and the loss of so many American lives made him appreciate the US even more, he stated. Although Toski was spared facing combat in the jungle, he believes, "That (military) preparation matured me and made me a better teacher and player in my golf career." He believes the excellent eye-hand coordination that made him an expert marksman is also what made him an expert at golf. He appreciates his military experience and its positive impact on his life, but admits, "I detest war. I feel so bad about all the guys that lost their lives. But once you're a soldier, you're always a soldier. It stays strong within your heart. You need to remember those who didn't come back."

In addition to his tenure at Ocean Reef from 1960-1972, 97-year-old Toski was the leading money winner on the tour in 1954, where he earned $65,819. He left the tour at age thirty to spend more time with his wife and three young children and focused his career on teaching. He started the Golf Digest instructional schools in 1971 with Jim Flick and was a pioneer in video instruction. Toski was the first living instructor inducted into the Golf Teachers Hall of Fame in 1990 and joined the ranks of the PGA Golf Professional Hall of Fame in 2013. Judy Rankin, a legend in her own right in the LPGA and golf's first female broadcaster, is one of Toski's many success stories, serving as his assistant at Ocean Reef for several winters while also playing together five times a week.

Bob Toski, Ocean Reef's first Director of Golf, was recognized during the first game of the Stanley Cup for his military service and contributions to golf.

Much is celebrated at Ocean Reef surrounding Bob Toski and his legendary golf career, and now gratitude for his service to our country is a part of that story.

La Colombe, we're so perked up, we imagine handpicking these blended beans in Brazil, Colombia and Honduras.

Midday in Latin America, Asia, and the Caribbean

Palm Court: For a break from the heat, we head to Palm Court indoors at The Islander. The team here has taken food travel to the next level with a host of new items, including Mediterranean Mezze (hummus), a Tex-Mex Rice Bowl, Peruvian and Mexican Ceviche, Sake served by carafe, Enchilado de Camarones (shrimp Creole), Grilled Churrasco with Yuca Fries or Tostones (fried green plantains), rice, beans, and black beans. The summer sushi menu has new lunch roll standouts such as the Acevichado (shrimp tempura, avocado, lime aioli, crispy sweet potatoes, lime aioli) and extended nigiri and sashimi options. Para postre (for dessert), try the Tres Leches.

The Beach Grill: Not wanting to be weighed down by a big midday meal, the next day we try the newest nibbles on the Beach Grill lunch menu. The Tuna Tostada, Floribbean Conch Salad, and a Vietnamese Rice Paper Roll, keep it light poolside. Those opting for heartier chow before their lounge chair siesta, choose the new tasty toasty Cuban sandwich, made with layers of pork, ham, and melted Swiss fresh off the new sandwich press. ¡Qué delicioso!

(Mostly) American Red, White, and Blue

The Grill Room: Drawn to the fresh smells of home broths (a friend claims she can drink the tomato soup by the gallon), they keep us coming by for that cozy feeling on a rainy day. Seinfeld devotees can rejoice- there is soup for you from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday through Thursday. A return trip for Steakhouse

Chef Fitzgerald Grant and the Palm Court Team show off some of the new summer menu offerings.

Nights from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. gives our meat lovers a reason to celebrate. Don't think CH Prime, this is a fresh new take on weekend steak dinners. Filet Mignon, New York Strip and for fish lovers, there's Crispy Salmon.

Toski's: Al fresco dining in the summer is possible with the shaded covered outdoor patio with large ceiling fans at Toski's. With the Reef Hut currently closed, they've added more favorites to the menu. We're talking hot honey ham and Italian sandwiches and chipotle turkey melts. The best part is we can lunch here daily until 4 p.m.

Burgee Bar: Nothing shouts the USA louder than our favorite on-site American gastro pub. Head for the San Francisco Crunch Salad (we like ours finely chopped), the California club, The Texas Brisket End Melt, or the Florida Snapper Wrap. Our travel tip here is to save room for the Chocolate Chip Cookie Cobbler and Key Lime Pie made in house.

Raw Bar: Every good trip needs a reliable stop and Raw Bar is that one for us. Not any summer menu changes and that's fine by us. Crab cakes please!

Molto gustosi!

The Islander: Chef Eric

has added five new rolls named after the Members who inspired them, along with new Wahoo Dynamite and Ninja Rolls. Also new for summer is (angry) Crispy Calamari and Mussels Marinere appetizers, Watermelon Salad, Mahi Rueben, Citrus Sangra Salad, Hibachi Steak, Yaki Udon Noodles, and Roasted Peruvian Chicken. Wonder if collared kimonos would pass the ORC dress code.

Gianni: Chef Ryan explores the varying regional tastes of Italy with summer weekend menu specials, featuring inspirations from Florence, the Amalfi Coast, Bologna, Tuscany and more. And when it comes to the pasta, it doesn't get any fresher. All the pasta here (except for the gluten-free) is made in house thanks to a new extruder. The machine is able to produce 25 pounds at a time of lasagna noodles, tagliatelle, capellini, spaghetti, bucatini, fettuccini, gemelli, and more. Thatsa lotsa pasta. We wrestle over what to do for dessert. One of us get a slice of Tiramisu and the rest of us walk over to Reef Treats for scoops of gelato. What a great way to cap off our on-property tour of Italia.

¡Buen Apetito!

Camp is Rockin'

Seven more weeks of Unique Summer Camps remain with an assortment of camps offered for all interests. The Camps wrap up the week of August 12th. There are camps available for "kids", ages 5-17 and even a few adult camps coming up. So there is still time to add some more excitement to your summer schedule at The Reef.

Christopher Nelson, Director of Recreation, recently shared some highlights of the first four weeks of summer camp fun, plus looking ahead to other camps on the calendar. Basketball Skills & Drills, a new offering, has been wildly successful. Campers have worked on their personal basketball skills along with the opportunity for team play daily. These young athletes have been really happy with their own improvement and have also made many new friendships on the court. Two more weeks of this popular Camp remain on the line-up.

Christopher also was pleased with the action he has seen at the Tennis and Pickleball Camps with all levels of play for youngsters and adults and eleven more such camps on the schedule.

He also mentioned the

Don't miss out on the Basketball Camp fun, July 22-26 and August 5-9.

upcoming afternoon Art League Camp beginning on August 5th for the creative kid. Another outstanding camp that is only offered once near the end of July is Safe Boating Camp. It is a must for 12-18 year olds that are ready to learn navigation and how to safely operate a power boat right here at The Reef.

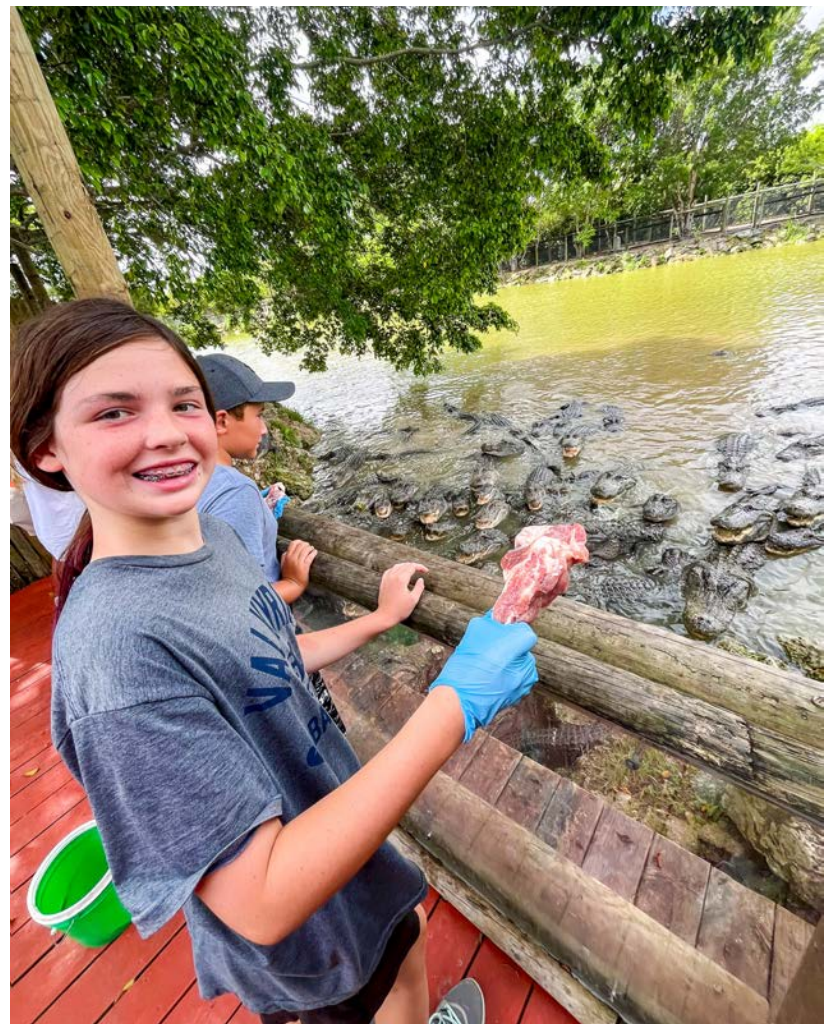

On another note, Rising Star Theater Camp finishes their theatrical magic today Friday, June 28th with a performance at the Cultural Center at 12:30 pm. Kyle Landers, Director, is proud of the campers this week who have used their imagination to create their own versions of fairy tales, make costumes and props, and perform some dances from past decades. Sure to be an entertaining event for all.

Camp Reservations:

Online booking at www.oceanreef.com/summercamps or call 305- 367- 6516 to speak to Camp Concierge.

Rising Star Theater Camp will take the stage again July 8-12.

Where else can you enjoy an experience like this than at Reef Discovery Camp?! July 1-5, July 15-19, and July 29 - August 2.

Essential Boating Tips for a Safe 4th of July & 2024 Lobster Season

As the month of July approaches, excitement is in the air at Ocean Reef. The surrounding vibrant marine life and beautiful coral reefs are expected to lure 4th of July revelers once again and—later in the month—lobster enthusiasts. “There are more people boating in our area because of our natural resources,” said Pete Liashek, Flotilla Public Education Officer, USCG Auxiliary, Ocean Reef Flotilla. “Everyone is here to visit our greatest natural wonder, the coral reef.”

Florida’s 2024 lobster sport season, locally dubbed the “mini-season,” runs from July 24 through July 25, allowing lobster hunters a short but intense window to capture the prized crustaceans. For the first time this year, Floridians will have an exclusive day of lobster hunting on Sunday, July 14, before tourists and commercial fishermen can participate. Following the mini-season, the regular lobster season begins at 12:01 a.m. on August 6, 2024, and continues through midnight on March 31, 2025.

Boating Safety Tips During High Traffic

Monroe County has the highest rate of boating accidents in Florida, with the epicenter being the waters stretching from Elliot Key to Islamorada. This area includes the waters surrounding Ocean Reef and North Key Largo, making safety a top priority during the busy lobster season. Statistics show that 82 percent of boating accidents involve operators who have not taken a formal boating course. The Florida state boating course, available online at MyFWC.com/boating.

Essential Safety Checklist

With the increase in boating traffic for the month, please follow Liashek’s boating safety reminders:

Lookout: “The number one reason for accidents is not having a lookout,” he says. “Have someone watching the water with you to alert you to boat traffic in your area.”

Maintain Situational Awareness: Be aware of what’s going on around you and in your boat. This includes monitoring other boats, swimmers, and obstacles.

Safety Equipment Knowledge: Ensure your guests know the location of safety equipment such as life jackets, flares, and fire extinguishers.

Life Jackets: Verify that you have one life jacket for each person on board and ensure they are the correct size. “The standard ‘red’ life jacket is not the appropriate size for a child,” says Liashek.

Provisions: Make sure you have enough water and food for all your crew. People get dehydrated faster on the water due to the sun and lack of shade, especially since the water temperature is around 84 degrees.

Boating Card Requirement: Any boater born after January 1, 1988, must have a Florida state boating card in his/her possession to operate a boat in Florida waters. Boating insurance premiums are reduced for those who have boating certificates from a course, so getting certified also offers financial benefits. Visit MyFWC.com/boating for more information.

By following these safety tips and adhering to regulations, everyone can have a memorable 4th of July holiday and safe lobster season.

Healthy Hearing Habits

As we age, hearing ability can naturally decrease. While this is common, you should still do your best to manage hearing loss so it doesn’t affect your communication, social interactions, or mental health.

A key part of healthy aging is taking care of your physical, mental, and hearing health!

Driving a Golf Cart

by Susan Bohan

A fun aspect of life here at Ocean Reef is being able to travel by golf cart, and for children and grandchildren, getting a cart license is a rite of passage. But there are rules surrounding who, where, when and how they can be driven so I sought an overview of common issues everyone should know according to Ariel Artime, Vice President/Director of Public Safety and Operations for ORCA (Ocean Reef Community Association).

Who can drive a golf cart?

All Members and Guests over 16 with a valid state issued driver's license may drive a cart.

Do licensed Minors (ages 16 and 17) have limitations on when they may drive?

Yes. They must carry their license at all times. Those 16 years old may not drive after 11pm and those 17 years old may not drive after 1am unless with a licensed driver over the age of 21.

Does ORCA issue Learner's Permits?

Yes, with the following regulations:

- Child must be at least 4ft

9in tall and at least 10 years old

- Must pass a written test
- Must be accompanied by a licensed driver at least 18 years old
- May only drive a slow cart (under 17 mph)
- May only drive during daylight hours
- Must wear provided yellow lanyard at all times while driving
- Parent or guardian must sign an indemnity agreement

What are the rules for driving with an ORCA issued license?

- Must be at least 12 years old and have held a Permit for over one year
- Must pass a driving test given by a trained Public Safety Officer
- Must wear provided blue lanyard at all times while driving

Who do you call to arrange for a Learner's Permit or Driving Test this Summer?

To make appointments, contact ORCA Members Services, 9am to 4pm, 305 367-7343.

Can children ride in laps of adults?

Children should not be held on a lap especially by the driver. It is suggested that all carts have seatbelts for children and infants ride in a car seat. Cart Rentals (305-367-6520) can install seatbelts within a few hours. Amazon can deliver a suitable car seat within a day or two. Note: All Ocean Reef Club rental carts are equipped with seatbelts.

A few quick tips for cart drivers:

- Always check if those facing backward are safely seated and warn your passengers when you are making any sharp turns. Turns are the greatest cause of accidents by either a rollover or ejection.
- Obey all traffic signs similar to your vehicle which includes no texting and observing a one-way street.
- Do not exceed capacity. Most carts are four-passenger and some are designed with six seats.
- Bellstand is available until 1am if a cart driver feels unable to safely drive their cart.
- Carts must merge into the car lane before making a left turn and use the cart lane when making a right turn.
- No driving in parks, on beach or on golf courses.

Obey all traffic signs similar to your vehicle, like this one-way street sign at the Fishing Village.

Complete information on permits, licenses and policies and the Golf Cart Study Guide are available on the ORCA website: www.orcareef.com/public/community/public-safety/golf-cart-information.

Weekends at The Grill Room

by Jody Steele

After a few weeks away from The Reef, we were so happy to come home. Driving in through the Gate, being welcomed by waving palms and magical lighting at the fountain is always worth a sigh. After unpacking and doing a multitude of chores, it was time to celebrate.

So we headed to The Grill Room at The Clubhouse for one of their weekend Steakhouse Nights for a lovely dinner in a beautiful space. Upon entering the Clubhouse, I always admire the décor and elegance along with some whimsical touches. It really does feel special.

The menu is twofold, with the "all-day dining" menu available along with the Friday and Saturday Steakhouse Nights menu that offers three appetizers, three entrees and four sides. We ordered the Whimsical welcome at the Grill Room.

Iceberg Wedge Salad, a New York Strip, A Crispy Skin Ora King Salmon, and two sides. Being traditionalists, we did share a slice of Key Lime Pie just to spoil ourselves. Everything was delicious and served with flair. Our waiter, Brian was knowledgeable, professional, and timely with each course.

The tables were filled with family groups, friends, and couples and all guests were sitting inside due to a warm and rainy night. We were happy to see the Olefson family at an adjacent table enjoying their dinner, too. Jessica Olefson commented on the wonderful steak, creamed spinach, truffle fries and the stellar service.

Chef Manny Cruz stopped by to share that every table was ordering a steak and that they were getting wonderful feedback from diners. Speaking to Chef Romane Francis a few weeks ago, we learned that a lot of planning was going in to the summer menu with some old favorites included and new items being added. The team at The Grill are presenting a lovely dining experience for the summer Members to savor. Reservations are recommended but not required, visit oceanreef.com/dining.

ORC MEMBERS – NEWS VIEWS & TIDBITS

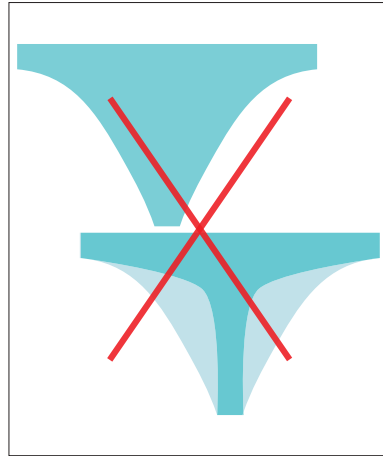

Memberabilia Ocean Reef Dress Code

by Joan Birsh

Featured here: Essentials of the ORC Dress Code. Some of the pictures indicate what to wear. Others, marked with an X, show what is a "NO NO" at Ocean Reef Club.

SWIMSUIT #1

The Ocean Reef Dress Code states that Thong style swimsuits are prohibited. Be aware that by ignoring this rule, not only will you be offending your fellow OR members but you will be asked to leave Buccaneer.

SWIMSUIT #2

The attractive pink Swimsuit #2 is acceptable under the Dress Code, since (unlike Swimsuit #1) the bikini bottom provides "appropriate coverage."

COVER-UPS

When is a cover-up a good thing? The Dress Code requires Bathing Suit Cover-ups, as well as footwear, be worn in all areas away from Buccaneer Island's beach and pools.

COLLARED SHIRTS

After 5 p.m., men are required to wear collared shirts at most OR restaurants (exceptions - Burgee Bar and Raw Bar). You will also need one for breakfast in the Ocean Room. On the golf courses or the practice range, a "tucked in" collared shirt is the mandatory uniform.

HATS

At ORC we are into "decapitation". So remove your cap when you enter a restaurant or other OR facility. (Exceptions – Raw Bar, Burgee Bar, Grill Room for lunch and Fitness Centers.) Don't ever wear your golf cap backwards.

SLEEVELESS SHIRTS AND TANKS

Sleeveless tops are fine for jogging or for Buccaneer Island. But make sure they are manufactured for athletic wear. If a shirt looks like an undershirt or has some dopey saying on it, then it's a NO NO at ORC.

TENNIS, PICKLEBALL, CROQUET

Both men and women should wear appropriate tennis clothing and footwear. (No swim trunks or non-tennis tees.) For Pickleball, fitness attire and footwear are OK. For Croquet, wear all white.

PANTS

For golf, you will need long pants or walking length shorts. And don't dream of wearing your cargo pants on the course.

SHORT SHORT SHORTS

Even if you are young and beautiful, don't wear your Short, Short Shorts that don't cover anywhere on The Reef.

JEANS

According to the Dress Code, short or long jeans are OK, but please only nice classics. No cut-offs, cutouts, rips or tatters.

CELL PHONES

It's everybody's most important accessory. But that said, do not talk on your cell in OR restaurants. Same goes for the Fitness Centers.

Harold "Spike" Yoh

Rare is the person who both commands the entire room and makes you feel like you're the only one in it. Spike Yoh was such a man. Larger than life, he had an enormous impact on myriad organizations and communities, yet perhaps the most common observation from others is how focused Spike was on them as individuals. Whether a colleague, an employee, a young person, or a worker in a local boutique or supermarket, Spike made others feel special. This was his superpower. And with all of this, nothing was more important to him than family, friends, and faith. Harold L. "Spike" Yoh, Jr., 87, went home to the Lord on Friday, June 21, 2024 surrounded by loved ones. His beautiful and peaceful passing concluded several years of on-and-off health challenges which culminated in renal failure and congestive heart failure. Affable and magnanimous to the end, Spike received visitors, phone calls, Zooms, and FaceTimes until just hours before he passed. Spike was born in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, in 1936 on December 12, a birthday he shared with his favorite crooner, Frank Sinatra. He graduated from The Haverford School and then, in 1958, from Duke University, where he met (the first) love of his life, Mary

(nee Milus). He also earned an MBA from The Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania. Spike and Mary were married in 1959 and remained loyal companions until Mary's death in 2015 after a long illness. Spike and Mary had five children, and they developed a parenting philosophy intended to build a cohesive yet diverse group. All seven family members (plus several other relatives) attended Duke, and at one point, all five children worked in the family business. Spike Yoh was an incredibly successful business and civic leader. In the mid-1970s, after having to outbid two public companies to buy his father's business, Day & Zimmermann, Spike led D&Z through a period of meteoric growth. When he retired in 1999, the company had 16,000 employees and was one of the largest privately held businesses in the US. Spike's volunteer career spanned an even longer timeframe than his professional endeavors. He filled the role of chairman or other leadership positions in organizations such as National Defense Industrial Association, National Technical Services Association, Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts of America, United States Olympic Committee, and The Haverford School. The two-part culmination of his community leadership efforts was as board chair for Duke University and then Ocean Reef Club. Never one to maintain the status quo, Spike had the uncommon ability to diagnose what ailed a community and the vision and wherewithal to develop a strategy and roadmap to enroll broad swaths of stakeholders as active participants in moving toward a better future. Mary, an active community volunteer as well, was his partner and biggest supporter throughout his business and volunteer activities. As a couple, they engendered tremendous loyalty and love from anyone who worked for or with them. Spike considered his Young Presidents Organization "Forum," a small group of fellow business leaders and family men with whom he met regularly for more than thirty-five years, as the "board of directors of his life." Spike valued friendship as much as anyone could. His infectious personality, zeal for living, and flat-out love of a good time created deep bonds and indelible memories for countless people fortunate enough to call him a friend. No group better exemplified these bonds than his beloved "Ollie Brothers," five fraternity brothers from Duke who remained close for the rest of their lives, routinely gathering for Duke Basketball games and with their spouses and growing families for reunions. Spike fell in love for the second time during the pandemic and, in May 2021, married Gail McConnell, also a widow. The Yohs and McConnells had been close friends for forty-five years, since their sons, also lifelong friends, met in kindergarten. Providentially, Spike and Gail gave the eulogy at each other's first spouse's funeral. They grew together in their faith during their brief but terrific three-year marriage. Spike was predeceased by his first wife, Mary, their daughter, Karen (d. 2007), and his half-siblings Robert Yoh and Marianne Yancey. He is survived by his wife, Gail, his sons Hal (Sharon), Mike (Gayle), Jeff (Suzanne), and Bill (Kelly), plus fourteen grandchildren, four grandchildren-in-law, and five great grandchildren. He is also survived by his sister, Barbara Juda, his half-brother, Ted, his stepson, Stephen McConnell (Mandy), stepdaughter Stephanie Moleski (Charlie), and four stepgrandsons. Services were held on Thursday, June 27 in Bryn Mawr, PA. Consistent with Spike's focus on others, please consider making a donation in his honor to the charity of your choice. Member since 1984.

Thomas Robert Wyman

Thomas Robert Wyman, 97, passed away peacefully at his home on June 10, 2024. He was born the son of Earl and Naomi (Merke) Wyman on April 9, 1927, in Oshkosh, WI. He attended Exeter Academy, graduated from Oshkosh High School in 1945 and Ripon College in 1949. Tom married his soul mate Shirley Friedrich on September 30, 1950. Together, they had two children who were the lights of their lives.

Together, Tom and Shirley enjoyed traveling, playing tennis, playing cards, spending time with their family, and socializing with their many friends. They cared deeply about Oshkosh and were philanthropic in supporting the community as a vibrant, wonderful place to live and raise a family. Tom continued the Wyman legacy and was proud that his son and three grandchildren returned and placed their roots in Oshkosh where they are raising their families.

He entered the family business, Oshkosh B'Gosh, from 1949 until his retirement as Executive Vice President in 1993. He was proud to be instrumental in the growth of this local company that achieved international recognition.

Tom served on many boards and committees including the boards of Oshkosh B'Gosh, Ripon College, American Apparel Manufacturers Association, Power Boat Club, Oshkosh Yacht Club, and other civic organizations.

In winter he enjoyed tennis, golf, boating, sailing and fishing at his home at Ocean Reef Club, where he was a member of the Card Sound Golf Club, Card Sound Sailing Club, Racquet Club, Key Largo Anglers Club and the Ocean Reef Yacht Club.

From an early age, Tom enjoyed sailing one design sailboats: Snipe, A Scow and his favorite, the E Scow. He was a member of the Inland Lake Yachting Association and was Bilge Puller #377. Tom loved a good regatta. After retiring from sailing, he was always on the water watching his family compete. During post-race family dinners, he would use dining utensils and salt and pepper shakers (boats and buoys) to teach tactics, strategy and how to improve a race finish.

He took pride in his yard at his Oshkosh home, loved big band music, enjoyed annual family ski trips until he was in his eighties, enjoyed going to dinner via boat (especially The Power Boat Club and Jimmy's White House Inn) and took any opportunity he could to be involved with his family and grandchildren. Tom lived a very full life, was incredibly humble and a true example of a gentleman.

Tom is preceded in death by his parents Earl and Naomi Wyman, his beloved wife Shirley, and his sister Joyce Wyman Hyde and her husband, Charles Fritz Hyde.

He is survived by his daughter Ann E Wolf (Leonard) in North Carolina, son Bill Wyman (Beth), his grandchildren Will (Kate), Max (Dani) and Kate (Chad) Durkee as well as his five great grandchildren River, Sophie, Grayson, Harper and Cameron, all of Oshkosh.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be directed to the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation Thomas & Shirley Wyman Fund. Member since 1980.

"If We Can Keep It: The Forgotten Promise of American Liberty"

by Rev. Dr. Bob Henley

As Americans, we are looking forward to the celebration of our independence on the fourth of July this year. Festivities and fireworks will take place in every small town and major city across our land. Ocean Reef Club will be no exception!

However, the milieu, the context in which our celebration takes place this year is one of civil strife and bitter political division. It is a moment of great concern as we observe the 248th anniversary of our nation's founding.

As I was preparing to write this week, Eric Metaxas' important book titled, "If We Can Keep It: The Forgotten Promise of American Liberty" came to mind. He titled the introduction, "The Promise."

The following is my summary of his words. It is a sobering reminder of what is required from each of us if we are to maintain the gift of our liberty.

For 100 days in the summer of 1787, a gathering of some of the most brilliant minds of that generation met in Independence Hall. They were creating the legal foundations for a form of government that had never been tried before. They were creating the possibility of something called the United States of America.

Dr. James McHenry wrote an account of Benjamin Franklin's meeting with a Mrs. Powell during those days. "Well doctor," she asked him, "what have we got? A republic or a monarchy?" Franklin, who was rarely short of words or wit, shot back, "A republic, madam, if you can keep it."

What Franklin meant was that whatever document they ended up with, and whatever government it described and created, could only be a beginning. The people themselves would have to do a lot to make it work.

The Constitution they created was a pointer to something beyond itself, a promise...one that could be broken or kept by the people to whom it was entrusted.

The Constitution was a ship of state the founders launched onto history's ocean, the likes of which had never been seen before. What they created that summer has so grown and flourished in the more than two centuries following that it is simply without equal.

However, at that moment in 1787, it still only pointed toward the future, like an arrow in a cocked bow. It held great promise because it was a promise to every American, present and future. It constituted a promissory note to which every American was full heir.

This then was the gamble of the founders – one that placed tremendous trust in the people to whom they bequeathed this fragile form of government.

We need to be reminded that it is a promise that must keep on being fulfilled. And we are the ones who must fulfill it. But what is required of us to keep that promise and to continue to fulfill it?

What is required of us, of each of us who are "we the people," is something we have mostly forgotten. The main point is that each of us who call ourselves Americans has a great duty to keep that promise - and if we don't do our duty toward keeping that promise, our nation will soon cease to exist in any real sense.

It is not enough for us merely to exist as a people, doing the minimum of simply obeying our laws and minding our own business. More is required of Americans if America is truly to be America. The founders understood that America would not flourish without great help from all Americans.

The ordered liberties and how they were to work together required a citizenry devoted to keeping them in order, so we were all in it together. The possibility of our continuing to keep that promise would vanish if we failed to take our duties seriously.

The idea that our government is "we the people" is not a corny idea that doesn't mean much. It is in fact an idea of great genius and is the main operating principle by which this nation has stayed alive and has expanded its freedoms for over two centuries.

But once "we the people" begin to forget that, and cease to do what is necessary as Americans, it all begins to fall apart.

We are in desperate, indeed urgent, need of a primer on these vital things. To cease doing what is necessary along these lines is to cease existing. But we are in very real danger of doing just that, of becoming America in name only.

The promise of the Constitution has been kept to the extent that so much has been done thus far. But much more must be kept now and tomorrow, by you and by me.

We are ourselves this moment the keepers of the flame of liberty. We are the ones charged by Franklin and the other founders and by history, past, present, and future with the keeping of this grand promise to the world. If the flame given to us goes out, we not only lose the light ourselves forever but will also lose the ability to pass it on to others who are waiting for it.

Introducing Recipes from Chef Betania's Kitchen:

Easy Bhuna Shrimp

by Betania Salles, Carysfort Kitchen Chef de Cuisine

Prior to coming to Ocean Reef Club, I was the Head Chef of Imlee Indian Bistro. While there I was able to fully embrace Indian curries and spices and share the aromatic adventure with our guests. The element of surprise and explosion of flavors that can be experienced when enjoying Indian Cuisine is what has always drawn me to it. I know it might seem intimidating because of this, but there are recipes, like this Bhuna Shrimp that are really quite easy. You don't need to be a cook to prepare it!

Easy Bhuna Shrimp

Bhuna curries are originated in Bangle, India.

Serves 2

Ingredients:

- 14oz large shrimp, 13/15 size, peeled and deveined
- 3 tbsp grapeseed or avocado oil

- 1 tbsp garlic, finely chopped
- 1 tbsp ginger, finely chopped
- 1 cup Vidalia onions, small diced
- 1/2 cup green peppers, seeded, small diced
- 1 green chili or half a jalapeno, thinly sliced
- 1/2 tsp turmeric
- 1/2 tsp cumin powder
- 1/2 tsp coriander powder
- 1/2 tsp Garam masala*
- 1/4 tsp chili powder or cayenne pepper
- 1 tbsp tomato paste
- 1 1/2 cups ripe tomatoes, small diced
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 1/2 tbsp lime juice
- 1/3 cup water
- 1/3 cup fresh cilantro, roughly chopped

Directions:

In a large sauté pan, drizzle 3 tbsp of oil, add garlic, ginger and onions, cook for 2 minutes, at medium-high heat until soft. Next, add green peppers, the green chili or jalapenos, sauté for 45 seconds. Add all the dry spices and stir well, then add tomato paste and sauté until well incorporated. Now, add tomatoes, salt and water, stir and let it cook for about 3 minutes or until sauce is thick. Then add the king prawns and lime juice, cook for about 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, until shrimp is fully cooked but still tender.

Turn off the heat, sprinkle fresh cilantro. Then serve it immediately with white rice or naan.

While you can use store-bought, I like to make my own. Here is the recipe should you want to prepare yourself:

GARAM MASALA

- 1/2 cup Cumin Seeds
- 2 tbsp Coriander seeds
- 6 each Black Cardamom
- 3 each Cinnamon sticks, broke into medium pieces
- 8 each Dry Bay leaves
- 10 whole Cloves

Toast everything in a sauté pan or oven for couple minutes. Cool it down and grind it to powder in a seed/coffee grinder.

50 Years of Romance at The Reef

By Kristin Binkley, Lauren Rios, Karen Ficalora and Kathryn Bellavia

We would like to congratulate our parents, Larry (Charles) and Susan DeLuca, who celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary on June 15, 2024. Their courtship included many adventures together at Ocean Reef Club. They were engaged to be married here as well, so it is a fitting tribute that we are able to highlight their marriage in the Ocean Reef Press, as their love story continues to be written... 18,247 days and counting.

Like all great romantic comedies, the circumstances under which they met are as charming and fun as the couple themselves. Susie, the daughter of Charter Members Buckie and Ethel Walker of Port Washington, NY, was beginning her freshman year at the International Fine Arts College of Fashion in Miami. Larry, a graduate of the Physics department at University of Miami, had recently signed a lease for an apartment where he lived with his younger brother, Gary.

Through fortune, foresight, and fortitude, Larry positioned himself into what proved to be a highly entertaining and

What will you leave behind for your children, grandchildren, and generations to come? Do they know your life's story? Do they know you?

many failed attempts by the landlord, (both incentivizing and somewhat coercive), Larry persevered and the two friendly young bachelors eventually found themselves as the only male residents living in an all-women's college dorm in the early 1970s in sunny Miami.

As the leader of the welcoming committee, Larry helped carry luggage and left single red roses in all of the mail slots of his new neighbors. With the literal keys to paradise, (the building was closed due to a curfew and only Larry and Gary were able to unlock the gate after 10pm), the two were soon beloved by the girls, who would eventually petition the college to keep them in the building after their lease expired. But despite being surrounded by a substantial lot of lovely ladies, Larry was completely captivated by Susie Walker. A singular beauty—warm, clever, and strikingly gorgeous—and she became his sole focus and Larry's next mission.

By luck, their apartments happened to sit one directly above the other, and Larry, known for his handy ingenuity, rigged a custom intercom system using wire he ran up the exterior of the building. With a direct line of communication between their rooms, the stars aligned again, just as their living quarters had, and a great love affair was launched which would stand the test of time.

Larry and Susie currently spend their time between their home in Port Washington, NY and their home in Ocean Reef. They are beloved and admired by their family, including 4 daughters and 6 grandchildren, who are blessed by the example of their continued partnership and love.

Tyler Shapiro, daughter of Equity Members Craig and Shannon Shapiro, graduated Summa Cum Laude from Miami Palmetto Senior High School. Earning herself a spot in the top 3% of 689 students has afforded Tyler many options for college but she chose to stay close to home. She was accepted to the University of Miami for neuroscience, one of the most competitive majors, and was awarded a President's scholarship and an invite to join the DaVinci Honors program. This program for high achieving students only accepts up to 40 students from the entire College of Arts and Sciences. Ever since Tyler was a little girl, she's wanted to be a doctor, specifically a pediatrician. When she was 5 years old, she asked for a book on human anatomy, "All About My Body" for the holidays. As she grew older, Tyler volunteered 40 hours a week during summers at children's camps. Last summer before her senior year, she was accepted into Duke University's summer neuroscience program. It was here where she decided she wanted to be a pediatric neurosurgeon. Tyler knows the road ahead is long but she's up for the challenge. Her family is very proud of her accomplishments.

Jim and Gina Kaplan are pleased to announce the marriage of their daughter, Legacy Member Alyssa Rose Kaplan, to Julian Scott Graham on Saturday, May 18 at The Point. The couple resides in Atlanta, Georgia.

The "Reef" Part of Ocean Reef

"Nature Notes" by Nancy Zakon

Did you ever think you'd be here – no, here - on the third largest barrier reef in the world (behind Great Barrier of Australia and the Belize Barrier)? Eons ago, when Pangea (mother of all continents) broke apart, nascent North America drifted west with a couple of African volcanic fragments hanging on (ironically, the first "hanging chad") which became... you guessed it – Florida. At its southern tip, sandy shoals evolved that were shallow enough for corals (needs sunlight) to grow, and grow they did. They made forests of stag horn, brain, elk horn and star corals. Other smaller corals filled. They had a fine time. Unlike like tree forests where limbs and leaves die off and rot, coral limbs don't decay – they accumulate on the sea floor. New coral builds on top of the old. So higher and higher the sea floor rises – underwater all the while. Oops, the Earth's temperature fluctuates which means that polar ice caps form and dissolve over eons. Enter a cold period, ice caps form sopping up fresh water like sponges from the ocean. The ocean level drops, exposing our beautiful coral to air – Viola! You have the Florida Keys. But wait, they aren't islands at all, but a long coral peninsula. If you put on your "back-in-time travel glasses," and look at Florida Bay, you see no water at all but solid ground where Florida Bay should be. Looking at Hawk's Channel (ocean-side) you see marsh instead. During the last 6,000 years, polar caps melt/refreeze, but sea levels gradually rise, Florida Bay fills in. Hawk's Channel floods, separating our inner and our outer Reefs. And with the right conditions, coral begins growing again. ("right conditions" is paramount. In this era, water temperatures are warmer than normal causing coral stress and dying. Another story.) Right under you now is a half-mile of ancient sea coral rock. You could safely say we are at the top of a coral forest. Around Ocean Reef, look carefully at rocks, walls and buildings - you'll be surprised. You can find fossil coral from long, long ago. Pretty fun! Or snorkel/dive to see the living offspring just offshore!

Vineyard Vines (Men & Kids)

The Fishing Village is the only place at Ocean Reef that caters exclusively to men. Here you can find beautiful lightweight jackets, a huge collection of ties, cool linen short-sleeved shirts in subtle patterns, and shorts including the new short shorts currently the rage with the spring breakers). The OTG (On the Go) line includes men's casual (wear anywhere) pants. Many items have the traditional Vineyard Vines "whale" logo, but for Ocean Reef Only, some merchandise has a new sport fishing boat logo.... Pictured here in a favorite Vineyard Vines combination of jacket/shirt/pants in Sean Carroll, Director of Beverage & Wine Operations for Ocean Reef Club.... In 2011 Sean and his wife Molly (who had been hired as editor of the Club's newspaper) arrived at OR with their two young children. Initially, Sean worked as the bartender at the Islander, then was quickly promoted to manager of Port O'Call where he endeared himself to the membership by stocking the wine shop with "fine" affordable wines. In 2014 Sean was appointed Director of Beverage & Wine Operations. It is a far-reaching job that involves him in every place and event at Ocean Reef that serves alcohol. In addition to keeping a day-by-day check on OR's multiple bars, he is required to keep abreast of the trends in the Wine & Spirits Industry by making annual trips to Napa and elsewhere; arranging and acting as MC for the periodic wine dinners and helping to oversee all other special events... This year's high point for Sean Carroll is the three-day Food & Wine Weekend – an over-the-top celebration that offers culinary events topped by a gala dinner on Saturday, April 13. The goal, said Sean, was to bring inside the Ocean Reef gates "an out-of-the-gates experience."

Plans Underway for a Wonderful 24/25 Art League Season

"Art League" by Deborah Goodwin Geller

As our fellow members are enjoying all the activities of their summer, the team at the Art League is in full swing planning for an amazing next season!

Art League Summer Camps

Of course, coming up first in August is our Summer Camp for kids. If you have family coming, check out this creative option and escape for a few hours from the sun by visiting oceanreef.com/SummerCamps.

Don't miss this summer's Art League Camp from August 5 to 9. Visit oceanreef.com/SummerCamps for information.

Book Club

On to next Season. I'm busy reading to prepare for our Book Club. Remember this is open to all Ocean Reef Members regardless of if you are an Art League member. The first book will be "The Woman" by Kristen Hannah, a New York Times best seller which I'm hearing has been read by many! Come and enjoy talking about your impressions of the book or hear fellow club members share theirs. Book Club starts back up in November. Our season's book choices will be in our catalogue.

New: Art Under The Tent

Something completely new and different is coming in January. Art Under The Tent will be held in the Cultural Center Parking Lot January 12th. What is this? We are inviting Art League members to submit works of art that they own but feel it's time to let go of. Yes, it's a sale! Members can sell their art and of course buy art from their friends. Maybe it's time for a change in your home decor, and why not let your pieces live on in someone else's home?

10th Anniversary Plein Air Event

January 29, 30 and 31 will be the Tenth Anniversary of our always popular Plein Air Event. It will have all the things you love about it but also some new features to experience.

Maritime Exhibit by Bert Wright & John Stobart

Finally, save the date for the Art Show of the year! Sherri Harris and the team are beyond thrilled and proud to have secured a Maritime Exhibit showing works by Bert Wright and the late John Stobart February 25-March 15. We know many of you will know of them but check them out if you haven't. It's going to be so great!

A Sound of the Season

by Harold Brewer

The Red-Shouldered Hawk photographed here by Jim Wilson is one of our regulars here at The Reef. This hawk is best known for its repeated piercing calls (some would say screams) coming from the sky or a perch high in a tree typically in the spring season. The calls are used both as a mating signal and also to announce territory rights. Judging from the photo, a local found success with their noisy call.

Found throughout the eastern part of the United States, during spring at The Reef we have our fulltime residents as well as migrants. The migrants are one reason for the sounding off about territorial and mating rights. Everyone wants in on the local action.

These hawks forage for small reptiles or mammals and occasionally other birds. Normally they still hunt from a perch such as a tree limb, the roof of a house or a wire. Using their incredibly sharp vision they can spot a small lizard in the grass from yards away and will drop silently down for a quick meal. Hawks capture their pray primarily by using their razor sharp talons. Most other birds use their bills for foraging.

Red-shouldered Hawks, their sub-species and their immature offspring, come in several different plumages. Regardless of being the occasional early morning alarm clock they were here long before we arrived. They are also good neighbors that provide environmentally friendly pest control without digging up the yard.

The Academy Shines on Stage

by Jerome Murphy, Head of School

The Academy at Ocean Reef was delighted to present this year's musical, "The Lion King", at the Cultural Center on May 30 and May 31.

Such performances don't come together without a lot of helping hands and moving parts. Considering the composition of this year's cast, 3 faculty members and 60 children, one-third of whom were under the age of 5(!), it took much planning and patience to pull off these shows.

Starting in September, under the direction of our performing arts director, Joey Celmer, students started learning the lyrics to the musical. Come

The Academy children steal the show during this year's musical performance of "The Lion King".

November, enter stage left, Stage Manager Kyle Landers and Choreographer Caitlin Bennett, and our performing arts team was complete.

By January, all of our students were participating in 2-hour rehearsals twice a week, leading up to our two weeks of dress rehearsals in May at the Cultural Center. During these two weeks, The Academy began the school day at the Cultural every morning, 8:30-10am.

By showtime on May 30, we had a stage adorned with beautiful props, sets, and backgrounds---all constructed, designed, and decorated by Caitlin Bennett and our Academy teacher, Nadia Desjardins. Performing in front of an audience of over 200 people, The Academy children shined on stage, all dancing and singing, much to the delight of a captivated and entertained audience! To no one's surprise, the "littles" stole the show!!

We are so grateful for the widespread support from the ORC community. To John Hunt, who graciously opened his doors at the Cultural Center to provide our students with the opportunity to perform under the bright lights on the big stage, thank you! To ORC Associates Kyle Landers and Caitlin Bennett, both of whom brought so much stage experience to our production and worked so well connecting with each of our children in the process, thank you! And, to our Performing Arts Director, Joey Celmer, thank you for your leadership and for paving the long road to such a resoundingly successful production!

Pure Fiji at The Spa

“Spa Notes”
by Michelle Santiago, Spa Manager

Summer is here and Pure Fiji has you covered for all things tropical. You might recognize their luxurious products from our Island Time Pedicure/Manicure.

Pure Fiji was founded by mother-daughter Gaëtane and Andréé Austin in 1996. Every product is infused with wild ingredients and the spirit of the Fijian people. The women who harvest these seeds on isolated remote islands now benefit from a new source of income.

Pure Fiji brings seed to skin with exotic drift seed oils which include virgin Coconut oil, Dilo oil, Sikeci oil and Macadamia seed oil and recent edition

Pure Fiji products carried at The Spa

Moringa oil. These organic oils are cold-pressed at source, using unique methods developed by Pure Fiji which retain the integrity and molecular structure of the oil.

Coconut Oil: The Islanders of the South Pacific discovered long ago the amazing benefits of pure coconut oil in softening, healing, soothing and helping to protect the skin. Pure Virgin Coconut Oil is hand pressed from fresh coconuts using a cold process that retains the natural nutrients. High in Lauric Acid (50%). The only other major source is Mother’s milk.

Dilo Oil: Exceptionally high in essential fatty acids, including oleic and linoleic acids, analysis of the Dilo oil also lead to the discovery of a previously unknown fatty acid - Calophyllic Acid.

Found only in Dilo oil, this essential fatty acid stimulates the healing process by promoting the growth of new tissue – thereby accelerating wound and scar tissue healing, and the growth of healthy new skin. This process of forming new tissue is known as Cicatrisation.

Macadamia Oil: Macadamia Nut Oil restores palmitoleic acid. Palmitoleic acid eventually becomes depleted as you age. By utilizing macadamia oil, you can restore your skin’s palmitoleic acid levels. Palmitoleic acid helps stop the speed of deterioration of your skin, stops wrinkles from forming, and tightens the skin. It also helps heal scars and sunburns.

Sikeci Oil: Sikeci nut oil contains high levels of the linoleic and alpha-linolenic fatty acids, vitamins and antioxidants that help soothe dry skin and heal wounds. This oil is readily absorbed into the skin, providing tissues the essential elements that they need.

The Spa offers a variety of Pure Fiji products including body scrub, lotion, oils, shower gel, bath soak and more. One of our favorites is the Pure Fiji Sugar Scrub which won the 2024 Dermascope award for Best Body Scrub. We carry this scented scrub in dragon fruit, coconut, coconut milk & honey and pineapple. No matter what Pure Fiji product you select you are assured to feel like you are on island time.

LGA Summer Trip to Southwest Ireland

“From the Gold Tees” by Michael Leone, Director of Golf

We are all back safe and sound from the LGA Summer Trip to Southwest Ireland. We once again had a wonderful group of ladies that all came together like fish and chips. We had a little of everything on the trip, which included golf, sightseeing, drinks, 40-mph winds, rain, warm up dance routine on the first tee of Lahinch, and wedding crashing!?!?

Erika Jones accompanied me on the LGA Trip and was able to get her first stamp on her passport. I can definitely say she enjoyed every minute of being overseas and saw that these international golf shops could really use her expertise.

Ladies from the LGA take Southwest Ireland, along with Mike Leone and Erika Jones.

We had an amazing schedule of golf which included Lahinch, Tralee, Ballybunion, Old Head and Doonbeg. As for the group’s favorite course, we didn’t need to take a poll. All of the comments at dinner gave an easy consensus that Old Head was the ladies’ favorite venue. We had a beautiful day of weather and we were able to see all the beautiful views that playing golf on a peninsula of land has to offer. The pictures we took along the way are all breathtaking, but you truly have to be there to experience it.

Where is the LGA going to decide to take their trip for the summer of 2025? So far, we have knocked off Scotland, Whistling Straits and Southwest Ireland. Our adventurous appetites may take us to Northern Ireland, England, Canada, Spain or Bandon Dunes. We are not sure yet, but wherever we decide to go, we know that it will be a lot of fun and the company will be even better!

Father’s Day Golf Tournament

Earlier this month, we celebrated Father’s Day with the annual Ocean Reef Club Father’s Day Scramble, giving fathers and grandfathers the opportunity to enjoy this wonderful game in a fun, competitive format with some beautiful weather. The day’s duos took a chance to showcase their talents on the golf course. It takes a “family-like” team effort to come out on top of the Father’s Day Scramble.

The field consisted of 7 teams ready to scramble their way around the front nine of the Dolphin Course. After all the scores were in, it was a tournament of the Taylor Family! These two teams brought a couple of young bombers to the course and it paid off.

Coming in at second place was the team of Philip and Tracy Taylor with an impressive, 11-under-par round of 25. Edging them out by one stroke, in typical family-feud fashion, was Philip’s older brother and Tracy’s son, the team of Dan and Jake Taylor.

Congratulations to our 2024 Father’s Day Scramble Champions, Dan and Jake Taylor, with a 12-under-par score of 24!

COAST GUARD AUXILIARY BOATING SAFETY

Boardings at Sea

by Randy Woods,
US Coast Guard Auxiliary Ocean Reef

Not everyone experiences a US Coast Guard boarding at sea, but on motor vessel Jupiter we have enjoyed three, the most recent in 2021 near Juneau, Alaska. Jupiter seems to attract the Coast Guard like salmon attracts bears.

The Coast Guard has sweeping authority to board any vessel (subject to the jurisdiction of the United States) at any time at any place. It does not require a warrant. It does not require probable cause. Boardings need not be based on suspicion of an existing violation.

Our experience in Alaska begins with a Defender Class boat coming up fast on our port quarter with blue lights flashing and a radio call on Channel 16:

-Jupiter, this is the US Coast Guard at your stern.

-We reply.

-When was the last time you were boarded?

-It's been about two years.

-We're coming aboard.

Maintain your course and speed.

We don PFDs. It is nearly calm in the channel leading southeast. We are making 6 knots. Fiona is at the helm.

Objects in the rear-view camera are closer than they appear.

Making friends after the safety check. Photo with permission.

I move outside to the cockpit to observe the Coast Guard boat come along side and dispatch two Coast Guardsmen onto Jupiter. The boarding team of petty officers is all boots, life jackets, guns and gear. They are going to inspect our vessel, and they mean business.

While I facilitate the requested inspection of our bilges, eyes are interrogating Fiona. Is she really in charge of the boat? Of course. She is a licensed mariner.

I open all bilge hatches. The Guardsman is checking to see if the boat is taking on water or hiding contraband, and to see if overboard discharge seacocks are closed.

Satisfied that the ship is sound and legal, out comes the clipboard with the vessel safety checklist—nearly identical to that used by Ocean Reef CG Auxiliary Vessel Examiners.

Everything must be seen and tested. All fire extinguishers are located, and the tags checked. Our copy of Rules of the Road is examined to see if it is the current edition. This thorough and unyielding safety check lasts an hour, and there are not many smiles until the end when we receive a satisfactory report.

We mention that we are members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla at Ocean Reef. The Coast Guardsmen are curious about our mission in Florida and our life at sea in Alaska. They thank us for our cooperation.

The Coast Guard Coxswain is expert enough to approach Jupiter's rail within six inches without touching, allowing for a safe disembarkation of visitors.

If you wish to have a vessel safety check under less stressful circumstances, contact one of the Ocean Reef Vessel Examiners:

What Works

Train With the Mindset of an Olympian

“Fitness Focus”
by Luis Bracamonte,
Director of Fitness & Wellness

The Paris Olympics are a few weeks away. Athletes from over 200 countries will compete in 32 sports and 329 medal events. These athletes have trained their bodies and minds to perform at their highest potential. They have dedicated their lives to excellence. Here is what they know and what they do:

They set to conquer discomfort. It is human nature to shy away and retreat from anything uncomfortable, but avoiding difficult things such as exercise has negative consequences. Athletes know that to perform at a high level and achieve optimal results, they must expose themselves to discomfort frequently and win the battle against it. Comfort feels good at the moment; conquering discomfort creates long-lasting fulfillment.

Practical Application: A daily workout is the perfect stage for battling and conquering discomfort. If you already exercise regularly, increase the duration, intensity, and or complexity of your workouts.

They are consistent in their training and habits. In fitness and sports, consistency is the king of all success factors. Athletes train daily for years, consistently fine-tuning every detail possible. They make small adjustments to their diets, workouts, recovery, sleep, supplementation, and mindset to lay the bricks that build powerhouses. It is more than positive thinking; it is positive action.

Practical Application: In its most basic form, fitness is the maintenance of muscles, bones, tendons, ligaments, cardiovascular systems, brain, and other organs.

It is also an opportunity to increase health, longevity, and performance to the next level. Your basic fitness program should include two or more resistance and cardio training sessions. More is better, but rule number one is creating a program that fits your schedule and allows you to stay consistent week after week.

They adapt and push further. What is challenging on day one gets easier with consistency, focus, and effort. According to the SAID principle, or Specific Adaptation to Imposed Demands, the body will adapt and become more efficient at whatever skill or activity it performs repeatedly with intent. Athletes use this principle to reap rewards from a training program and progressively make it more challenging to continue improving.

Practical Application: If you manage to stay consistent, you will achieve adaption. The next step is to continue challenging the program through duration, intensity, complexity, and adding new elements.

They accept that failure is part of the process. It takes several tries to succeed in something beyond our current limits. We can only increase our chances of achieving significant improvements by accepting that the road to success is long and will include failures. Athletes compete on game day and against themselves in every workout. It is not only the wins that add up, but also the times we push ourselves to get them.

Practical Application: Adopting new habits can be daunting. Most people succeed by adopting one habit at a time, and it often takes several tries.

Changes in how we eat, sleep, and exercise lead to significant improvements over time. Think of adopting a new habit as riding a wave that gets bigger and stronger with each ride. Powerful wellness habits include exercising daily, minimizing alcohol intake, eating a nutrient-dense diet, engaging in intellectual pursuits, and practicing mindfulness and introspection.

Only a few will experience competing in the Olympic games, but we all can benefit from adopting the same habits and routines. Every day is an opportunity to take another step in our chosen direction.

The Member Fitness Center offers group classes, personal training, swim coaching, yoga, and Pilates instruction all year round. The facility also allows members to do electro-muscle stimulation (EMS) sessions and workouts using a robotic AI cable platform called the Oxefit XP1. To learn more or to book sessions contact us at 305-367-5820.

Michael Phelps, Look Out!

ORC's Director of Fitness Completes a 12.5-Mile Swim Around Key West

Director of Fitness & Wellness Luis Bracamonte has completed many fitness challenges in his lifetime, from competing with the Peruvian National Swim Team (1991-2000) to completing 29029 Everesting mountain climbing endurance challenges. His latest feat is equally as impressive... swimming around Key West – a solid 12.5 miles – in just five hours.

Naturally, there are questions. Like why? And how?!

Ocean Reef Press: First, the big question... why swim around Key West?

Luis Bracamonte: Many reasons, but primarily a yearning for adventure and the everlasting feeling of fulfillment after accomplishing something difficult.

Luis Bracamonte, Director of Fitness & Wellness, swims 12.5 miles around Key West.

Last year, I did the 8-mile Swim For Alligator Lighthouse race and that is where I learned about Swim Around Key West - an annual event put on by the College of The Florida Keys. I thought participating would be a great personal challenge. Of the 150 participants, only about 30, myself included, swam the entire 12.5 distance individually, others swam portions as teams. I owe a big thank you to my buddy Abraham Mirabal (Ocean Room and originally Member Fitness Center) who flew from North Carolina for the weekend to be my support kayaker and navigator.

ORP: How did you train for the swim?

LB: I swam about three times per week with each workout averaging 7 to 10 thousand yards. I also ran 2 to 3 times and did 4 to 5 strength workouts per week. Most of my swimming was done in our Fitness Pool.

ORP: What is the longest distance you've swam in one go?

LB: Although I was a competitive swimmer from ages 5 to 21, I never swam this long in one go, so 12.5 miles is my new distance personal record. My longest pool swim was 22,000 yards a few months ago but my goal is to break that personal record this summer. I also plan to continue doing more marathon swims and looking for more swim adventures.

ORP: What were the most challenging parts of this experience and what will you remember most?

LB: The last two miles were the toughest. The water was choppy and the current against us. It was as if the ocean wanted to ensure we gave it the respect it deserved. I had also burned myself fire dancing two days before the swim and kept wondering as to whether the wound in my arm would attract sharks... It didn't, or at least I never noticed. Swimming alongside a cruise ship was pretty special.

And there we have it. In the words of Vice President of Sports & Amenities Mic O'Keeffe, "Too fast for the sharks and too elusive for the jellyfish... Luis did it! Congrats on yet another feat of strength, and a truly remarkable accomplishment!"

Justin Romero Named USPTA Regional Pro of the Year

On May 31 at the United States Professional Tennis Association (USPTA) annual conference in Ft Myers, Justin Romero, Ocean Reef's Director of Racquet Sports, was selected among all professionals in Miami-Dade, Broward and Monroe County as the 2024 USPTA Regional Professional of the Year. This accolade celebrates Justin's exceptional contributions to the racquet sports industry both at Ocean Reef Club and beyond, while also recognizing his dedication and leadership within the USPTA organization itself, which has more than 14,000 members worldwide.

Justin's achievement was highlighted before an audience of 250 professionals, including Ocean Reef's former Director of Tennis Jim Morton, Vice President of the Florida USPTA and 2019 USPTA Florida Professional of the Year winner, who expressed pride in Justin's success. Reflecting on his mentorship of Justin over the years, Jim remarked, "After working together for more than 10 years, witnessing Justin's growth and seeing him honored in this way is incredibly rewarding. Justin truly deserves this recognition, and it's a testament to his leadership that our Club continues to thrive under his guidance."

Mic O'Keeffe, Vice President of Sports & Amenities, echoed this sentiment, celebrating Justin's award as a significant milestone for both him personally and for the Club's racquet sports program. "Justin's recognition by industry peers is well-earned and highlights his accomplishments thus far in all things racquet sports, while underscoring the many more that are sure to come," Mic applauded. "We are thrilled to have him leading our Tennis & Games Center."

The USPTA conference also saw O'Keeffe and Laura Ciampa, Ocean Reef's Vice President of Human Resources, contributing to panel discussions. Mic focused on the future of racquets sports within the club industry, while Laura shared valuable HR insights with industry directors.

It's safe to say, Ocean Reef Club made a name for itself at this year's USPTA conference!

TENNIS TIP

Set a Winning Routine

by Jaspal Mahal, Tennis Professional

One of the most common times you'll see players having a ritual is before they serve. This is because you control every aspect of the shot, and grounding yourself with a routine can help you focus. For my own serve, I like to focus on the number of times I bounce the ball on the ground before I toss it.

This helps me block out any distractions through counting my 4 bounces on the first serve and 5 bounces on the second. Then, I take a second to look at the spot I want to hit, and I go into my service motion. I've also seen players adjust their hats, knock the clay out of their shoes, choose a specific side of their racket, or whatever they feel puts them in their comfort zone before a serve.

This can also be emulated on the serve return. For me personally, I like to adjust my strings and walk to the back fence between points. This fits my style of play, as I like to take my time in between points to gather myself. If you like to play faster, you can have a routine at the baseline when you're waiting for the server to be ready. This could be bouncing in place, swaying back and forth, adjusting your grip or strings, or anything that helps you calm your mind and focus on the next point.

Having a routine can be extremely helpful through a match, especially on stressful points. By having a few things in your pre-point ritual, you gain control of the time you have between points. This grounds you in the moment, gives you time to clear your mind, and then you can visualize what you want to accomplish. If you need some help coming up with your pre-point routine, our pro staff at the Tennis & Games Center is available to give you tips for any match situation you might find yourself in! Call us at 305-367-6583 to set up a lesson.

CROQUET CORNER

Love at First Strike

by Carol Blackburn, Croquet Committee Chair

Our celebrated Croquet Courts take a short respite during the summer months. It's a time for complete repair and healing of the lawn.

Accordingly, the court will be closed:

May 28-June 30 and August 19- September 22

This is a great opportunity to brush on some rules! Check out one of the most misunderstood rules regarding striking a wrong ball by seeing "The WCF Rules of Golf Croquet Sixth Edition" (10.3-10.5).

Here you can also see pictures of some of the great Croquet merchandise being sold in the Tennis & Games

The Tennis & Games Center Pro Shop is stocked with new Croquet merchandise. Don't miss out on these pieces and more!

Center Pro Shop. Plus, we have many more events and socials planned for the 2024/2025 season.

Stay tuned.

RECENT CATCH

BRIDGE TIP

Common Rules & Basic Etiquette That All Bridge Players Should Know

Rules

1. What constitutes a played card?

Whether a card is considered played is different for a declarer and defenders. For declarer it is on or near the table or in a manner as if to be played. For defenders, it is if it is played in a manner that, if the other defender were looking, he could have seen the card. When the director is called, he often asks for a visual representation of the playing of the card.

2. When to Announce a Failure to Alert

It is different for offense and defense. Defenders should not announce a failure to alert until the play of the hand is over lest they give unauthorized information to partner. Declarer should announce his side's failure to alert after the bidding is ended and before the opening lead. Any player should call the director as soon as he realized that he, himself, has failed to alert. This includes mistaken and missing explanations.

3. The explanation of an Alert

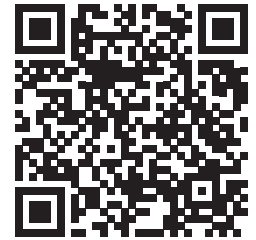

When someone says "alert" and you want to know the meaning; the proper statement is "Please explain." Don't ask unless you need useful information at that time otherwise, wait until the bidding has ended the partner has led face-down. If you already know the meaning of the alert, do not ask the meaning for partner's edification. When explaining an alert, you should tell the actual meaning of the bid-not the name of the convention. Don't say "Drury"-instead, say, "limit raise." If you are not sure what it means, do not guess.
